New Ration Books Distribution Coming

Ration Book 4 will be distributed during the last week of March from over 1000 centres in Alberta organized by the 52 Local Ration Boards in the province, officials of the regional ration administration in Edmonton announce.

The final week of March will be Ration Book 1 all across Canada, but each community will select dates during that week for local distribution of new ration books. It is advisable to watch weekly newspaper advertisements for these dates and the centres of distribution.

Formalities, now familiar in obtaining new ration books are: Print name, address, prefix letters and set number, and age if 16 or over, on the application card at the back of ration book 3. Do not detach this card but present ration book 3, intact, at the distribution centre in order to obtain ration book 4.

New feature of importance in this campaign is the deadline for application. Late applicants for ration book 4 will not be able to get one until April 17th.

Registry of the municipality number is required for this issue. The number in this district will be 280.

Do not destroy ration book 3, which contains 10 "F" coupons for canning sugar, not valid until later in the season. It is possible that meat rationing will be resumed, for which meat ration coupons in book 3 may be required.

Livestock Breeders Will Meet at Olds

Farmers in the Didsbury district will be interested to know that artificial cattle breeding service is being made available to the farmers of the district by the formation of the Olds Livestock Breeding Club Limited. This club is serving an area from Innisfail to Carstairs and is serving the Holstein and Shorthorn breeds.

Local members on the Board of Directors are Edward Liesemer and Tom Morris.

The Secretary-treasurer is Josephary of Olds. Membership at present stands at approximately 100 and further membership is being solicited. Anyone wishing further particulars should contact their local representative, the secretary, or the livestock laboratory at School of Agriculture, Olds.

The first general meeting of the Club will be held in the Gymnasium at the Olds School of Agriculture on Thursday, March 23rd at 2 p.m. All members are requested to attend. The meeting is open to anyone who may wish to become a member or who may wish to learn more about the work that is being done.

Artificial insemination is the latest scientific development to accelerate livestock improvement. This is the first artificial breeding club to be formed in Alberta and

Fire Destroys Barn and Livestock

One of the most serious farm fires in the history of the district occurred early Wednesday morning, when two barns and number of livestock were destroyed on the farm of Alex Sayer in Waterloo district.

The fire was discovered about 1:30 a.m. in the large, almost new barn, which was about 25x60 feet with lean-to full length, but the fire was so far advanced that only a few cows were saved. Eight cows, 15 calves and 35 pigs, along with a large quantity of feed were burned. The fire spread to an old adjoining barn, but the seven head of horses and the harness were saved from this building.

In attempting to save the livestock Mr. Sayer was severely burned about the head and was taken to Didsbury Hospital.

A few neighbors gathered and managed to check the fire from spreading to a number of adjacent buildings.

It is estimated that the loss amounted to over $3,000.00, which is partly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Obituary

WILLIAM HENRY LITTLE

William Henry Little, one of the oldest residents of the district, died at the home of Mrs. Cummings, Didsbury, on Thursday, March 9th, in his 92nd year. Born at Port Hope, Ont., Sept. 10, 1853, he came to Alberta 30 years ago and farmed in the Carstairs district until about 10 years ago, when he retired. He is survived by one son and four daughters.

Funeral services were held at Gooder Bros. Chapel, Calgary, and interment at Burnside cemetery.

GEORGE HERBERT OWEN

George Herbert Owen, of Elton, passed away Thursday, Mar. 9th, 1944, in his 77th year.

Mr. Owen was born at Shanghai, China, of Welsh parents and lived there until the age of 13, when he moved to Bedford, England. He came to Alberta 38 years ago, living at Didsbury, Elton and Innisfail.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, Guy Sidney and Thomas Leslie, in the army in Italy, and one daughter, Mrs. H. H. Reimer of Elton and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Monday, March 13th at 2:30 from the Church of England, Didsbury, Rev. A.D. Currie officiating. Interment in the Didsbury cemetery. Pallbearers were C.P. Reimer, R. E. McMullen, Elias McQuarrie, Art Rothwell, Robert McGaffin and John Howton. Herb Fisher was in charge of arrangements.

Its organization marks a very progressive step made by the cattle breeders of the district. Being a co-operative organization, its welfare depends on the active patronage of a good membership.

Bride Elect Honored

Honoring Miss Fannie Tuggee, a bride-elect, a delightfully arranged shower was held at the home of Mrs. Mose Dippel on Wednesday, March 8. Mrs. Ezra Dippel and Mrs. Jay Tuggee were co-hostesses.

The many lovely gifts were arranged on the dining room table under a canopy of a prettily decorated umbrella in yellow and white. A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in streamers and a miniature bride centering a small table in the parlor.

Dainty refreshments were served to about fifty guests.

Rifles, machine guns, or bows and arrows, it's all the same to Trooper Stanley Brooke. He won the rifle competition at Olds last Sunday, for A Squadron 14th Calgary Tanks, R.C. thus winning the first two years running. Then, to show he isn't narrow minded, he gave a demonstration with the bow and arrow. Incidentally, he manufactures these, and has sold them to archers all over the North American continent.

Mr. Bill Pettlinger, Field Service man of the Alberta Wheat Pool, held a meeting at Melvin Hall Tuesday night. He showed a picture of Grey Owl, the Indian hunter, which was greatly enjoyed. He was accompanied by Mr. Ben Plumer, of Basimo, chairman of the Wheat Board.

Just arrived at the Builders' Hardware, a large shipment of all types of Chick Feed.

Mr. D.N. McDonald informs us that he has received the automobile stickers and commenced issuing them on Wednesday.

Weekly Red Cross Food Parcels Shipped To Prisoners Of War Said To Be Real Life Savers

"REAL life savers in the very essence of the word" is the way one prisoner of war in Germany recently described the weekly Red Cross food parcel. And according to reports, this man speaks for all repatriated prisoners and letters from hundreds of others bear this out. "What's in the parcels?" you ask. Each parcel contains whole milk powder, butter, jam or marmalade, piled biscuits, cheese, corned beef, salmon, raisins, sardines, sugar, tea or coffee, chocolate, salt, pepper, soap.

These foods were selected by a committee of experts and represent the minimum government to allow regular distribution of individual food parcels to prisoners and internees in the prisoners. Up to the present time 7,000,000 parcels have been packed and shipped to the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva for distribution. The burden of expense has been shared by Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, and Canada, although the packing of these food parcels has been undertaken by the Dominion. It is estimated that the cost of each parcel including food and shipping is about $2.75. Much of the work connected with these parcels is not paid for at all. The women volunteers who pack the thousands of parcels every day, who count, sort and file the acknowledgement cards and search for names for enquiring friends; all of these work without remuneration. Their voluntary service reduces the overhead cost of these Red Cross services enormously.

Canada has five packing centres or depots—Toronto, Winnipeg, Windsor, Hamilton and Montreal. In most of the centres the packing is done in the atmosphere of a busy factory. Empty boxes start down the line on a conveyor belt. Each worker has her own supply of one food article to pack. When the box reaches the end of the belt it is sealed, stamped and ready to be crated. Between 85 and 130 women work for about two hours each morning in each depot. The afternoon is spent in replenishing the stocks of food for workers to pack the following morning.

Besides the regular weekly parcels the Canadian Red Cross sends bulk quantities of vitamin capsules, cigarettes and tobacco. "Capture parcels" are also sent containing razor soap, tooth brush and toothpaste, warm underwear etc. Books, sports equipment, and articles of clothing are sent directly by the next of kin of prisoners. Drugs, medicines and so on are looked after by the British Red Cross.

Owing to the refusal of the Japa-

A carpenter is hard at work nailing up full crates containing individual prisoner-of-war packages. After the individual packages go through the packing line, they are placed in the crates as pictured above all ready to be shipped to the International Red Cross for distribution. To carry on this and other vital work, the Canadian Red Cross urgently needs a minimum of ten million dollars.

GARDEN NOTES

The Start Is Vital

If there is any question as to whether to start a garden, and this applies also to the other kind, then it is probably an early and thorough start, though there may still be snow on the ground and only a few weeks away, the expert will say that it is not too soon to start planning. Probably a million Canadians have started for the first time last year and one of them, for fear they are only moderately happy about the results. They run into a great deal of trouble with weeds, which could have been avoided had there been a little planning and especially cultivation, before the seeds were planted. It is easy to kill weeds after anything is planted and the soil too is improved. Simply plowing a Victory Garden is not enough. It should be cultivated deep and manured, if possible, with fertilizer. If results are to be expected,

Take Little Room

Evenly the biggest yielding crop one can grow are the garden vegetables. They can be made to grow close together but with something like radish, spinach, lettuce and carrots, for instance, a second crop can be harvested in a single row.

Small vegetables like lettuce and radish require rows only 15 inches apart. Beets, beans, carrots, peas and spinach need a little more space, while potatoes, corn and staked tomatoes must have a couple of feet to thirty inches. Space may be saved by the latter type of planting, quick maturing, such as lettuce and spinach are planted in between. The bigger things will not need the full room at first, and by the time they fill in, the early crops will be out.

If room is extremely limited, then experts advise combining vegetables to such heavy yielders as carrots, lettuces, beans, turnips, radishes and, possibly, staked tomatoes.

A 20-foot row of any of these will supply many meals for a small family.

It is also recommended that approximately 15,000 Air Cadets attended camp during the past summer, all eager to take advantage of training, which is a definite part of the lives of the up-and-coming youth of today.

Through the keen cooperation of the Royal Canadian Air Force and the Air Cadet League with its Provincial, Regional and Local civilian committees, there has been built up an organization of over 370 squadrons in which are enrolled approximately 28,000 Air Cadets under the leadership of shift officers who are giving this training, which has proved so valuable to hundreds of cadets who have already enlisted in the R.C.A.F.

Any cadet who is interested in getting as much as possible out of the training should be worked while it is still wet. But once one gets into the groove without getting into such a muddle, then the take can be brought into play.

In both new lawns or in patching the soil should be raked fine and the seed sown in the spring only the highest quality of seed mixture as thick as directions specify and, of course, when there is no wind blow.

Both new and old lawns benefit from raking while the ground is still soft. Grass, like any other plant, needs good root and an annual application of fertilizer is advisable. This pushes growth so that many weeds are crowded out.

Delayed Celebration

Churchill Had Christmas Dinner After He Returned To London

The London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal says: The Prime Minister was unable to share in any of the Christmas festivities, having been at that season an invalid, whose condition caused much anxiety to his medical attendants. His recovery has been so complete, however, thanks partly to his splendid constitution and partly to the skill of his doctors that Mr. Churchill was able to hold a delayed Christmas celebration at his house in London on the night of his return from Morocco. There was a jolly party, a turkey which had been kept carefully in cold storage and Winston fully enjoyed crackers with the best of them.

It is as well that these facts should be known, in order to reassure the public, particularly in the Prime Minister's health. Those who shared in the deferred Christmas party declare that he has never been in better form.

The Fund Grew

"Just to see what would happen, women assembly line workers at Bell Aircraft Corp., Niagara Falls, N.Y., pasted $18 on the skeleton fuselage of an Avroplane P-39 for Smokes-for-Soldiers Fund. Six days later when the plane rolled off the line it bore contributions ranging from pennies to a $100 bill and totalling more than $4,000."

Air Cadet Training Prepares Youths Of This Country For A Future Place In Aviation

(By Squadron Leader W. J. Sergeant, R.C.A.F.)

THE Air Cadet Training Syllabus includes such subjects as Administration, Aircraft Recognition, Drill, Mathematics, Signals, Basic Navigation, Meteorology, Airmanship and Dual Fitness. These are subjects taught to airmen new to the Royal Canadian Air Force when they go to the Initial Training School prior to receiving instruction in actual flying. Although the training in all subjects is not as extensive as at I.T.S., it is designed to provide such a background that those who take it should be more efficient when they enlist as airmen.

Before Air Cadets come into being, it would have appeared impossible to take their rightful place in aviation whether for war or for peace, suggest that boys could qualify in such a course. However, at the end, The Air Cadet League of Canada of the first five month period, with its civilian sponsors and committees, together with the Royal Canadian Air Force, are fulfilling the desires of the red-blooded boys of this country.

The enrollment of boys in Air Cadet squadrons is limited only by the number of squadrons in operation. Additional squadrons can still be formed; there should be a squadron in every town which can muster 25 boys and to form these new squadrons more adults are required to take an active interest in this important war work of training airmen and helping to insure their success when it is decided to enter for service.

Interested adults can do much to encourage boys to enrol in Air Cadet squadrons already established in their community so that they will not be deprived of the benefits of the training offered therein. If a squadron has not been formed in a community, necessary information may be quickly obtained by writing to the Air Cadet League of Canada, 122 Wellington Street, Ottawa.

DIFFERENT TODAY

Earl of Selborne, British Minister of Economic Warfare, viewed the end of the war against Germany thus at a recent press conference: "The set-up in Germany is different from 1918. The army and the Nazis machine and the tool slave of the Nazis machine, and therefore I do not believe that the end can be achieved with the crushing military defeat of Germany."

The World of Wheat

by H. G. L. Strange

PREPARATIONS FOR SEEDING

Wise farmers are now making preparations for seeding. Is the grain to be used as seed of good germination. Some of it we know is not. Farmers would do well to make a home germination test of 100 kernels of the different lots of seed they intend to sow.

Grains must be treated against smut or bunt. Treating with mercurial dusts—Ceresan or Leytonos—is the modern method. Its advantage is that the seed can be treated and stored for several weeks before sowing, so that actual sowing operations are not interrupted.

Repair parts for machinery are scarce. A wise farmer will look over his machinery and order his repair parts as quickly as possible.

In many districts plans should be made to combat saw flies. One drill width of wheat sown very early around an infected field will trap saw flies, then the strip can be destroyed, and so the grubs killed, about the middle of July. If fields are badly infested, some recommendation is to sow oats, barley and flax and to let the seedling of wheat as long as possible. Where the saw fly infestation is 100 percent, it is recommended if possible to skip a year in the sowing of wheat.

Warble Control

It seldom happens that one can get a $5 return from a $5 investment, and especially for an investment which no farmer can afford. It is possible, however, and as a matter of fact such investments are being made consistently by the more progressive farmers and stockmen of Alberta.

Purchase within the next week sufficient warble powder to treat your herd of cattle, is the advice of J. L. Engleham, supervisor of pest control, Department of Agriculture, March. A pound of warble powder will treat from 50 to 75 head, if directions on the package are followed. It will cost approximately 15¢ a head treated. One treatment will give about 75 per cent control of warble flies if applied at the proper time, that is, just before the flies appear. These treatments must be at the proper time and spaced at three to four week intervals will give 100 per cent control for the whole year.

Experienced dairymen, feed lot operators, farmers and ranchers contend that losses to the warble fly approximately $5 per animal per year. This is a terrible sum, and figures are 10 per cent more for required for warble animals; 25 per cent decrease in milk flow from cows tormented by the fly in summer and made up only by the time in the autumn in winter 50 to 100 pounds less weight put on by cattle on summer pasture because of the heel fly. The farmer with ten cattle or the rancher with the herd can turn these losses into profit.

To those who would like more income than they now receive, a small investment in warble control tools, and a little time is recommended.

To those not interested in increasing their income the control of this pest must still be considered an important matter. It is important because it is an effective means of filling our nation's urgent demand for greater supplies of meat, milk and leather without grub holes.

March and April are the investment months. The benefits will be returned to the investor throughout the year.

The Olds Baptist Church was the scene of a very lovely wedding on Saturday, February 26th at 8:15 p.m., when Isabel Marge, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. W. Worthington, of Olds, Alberta, married the Rev. Mr. George Geiger, son of Mr. D. Geiger and the late Mrs. Geiger of Didsbury. The Rev. G. C. Ashdown officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white sheer fashioned with a fitted bodice embroidered with gold thread at neckline and waist. Her very delicate worn and mother-of-pearl, was adorned with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a nosegay of violets with her ivory bible. The bride's only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Miss Alice Grant, the bride's only attendant, was charming in a turquoise gown and matching head wear with a pink rose. The maid of honour, Mrs. Margaret of Edmonton was a groomsman. LAC Arthur Worthington of Regina, and Malcolm Yost of Olds were usher boys. The wedding music was played by Miss Mary and John Kite.

During the singing of the regular Miss Dorothy Kaiser wearing a pale yellow gown with a corsage of Tallman roses sang the wedding hymns.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Miss Dianne Geiger of Calgary; Mr. Geiger of Didsbury and Miss Josephine Henry of Calgary.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Warren, at which about forty guests were received by Mrs. Worthington, who wore a blue sheer dress with a corsage of roses. The Rev. Mr. Bush and Mrs. Henry poured tea.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Geiger left for Calgary, where they will reside. For travelling the bride chose a green herringbone tweed suit with black accessories.

The Rev. Mr. Ashdown proposed a toast to the bride and groom to which the groom fittingly responded.

Rugby Notes

With an attendance of nine, the March meeting of the W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Cowitz. Our monthly quota of knitted articles for the Merchant Marine was turned in, together with another Seaman's quilt for shipment to the Navy League. It was decided to purchase a further supply of wool for future needs.

After the business of the day was over, an interesting quiz program was conducted by our Agriculture Convenor, Mrs. Wahl, on that topic. Meeting then closed with the National Anthem, and lunch followed.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. Housego, with Mrs. A. Shannon in charge of the afternoon's program.

Zella Notes

The Zella Whist Club met at the home of Mrs. E. Jahnke on March 8, with Mrs. Joe Rindal as hostess. There were four tables of cards and two tables of whist, which were played. The collection amounted to $7.40. Mrs. Jack Rindal and Mr. Fowler took the prizes, and Mrs. Rindal was lucky in catching the travelling prize. Out of the last three card games the club has realized $16.65, which has been turned in for the Red Cross drive.

The next meeting is to be at Hartmann, at the home of Mrs. Johnson, on March 22nd, with Mrs. Turnbull as hostess.

FAST MOTOR

An electric motor, which operates at the record-breaking speed of 150,000 revolutions per minute, six and a half times faster than the conventional motor used in the home washing machine or refrigerator, has been built by a team of engineers. Electric motor. If the wheels of an automobile could be made to turn at the same speed, the auto would move at the rate of 10,000 miles per hour, or 16 miles per minute. This is about fourteen times the speed of sound. Motors of this type will be used for the grinding of steel, the launching of giant planes and other war equipment and will not be available for general use. Rating, 3 h.p.; weight 7 pounds. You can put one in your hand; half a gallon of water a minute is supplied for cooling.

Can We Do Less?

With our gallant airmen fighting in the skies over many lands . . . with our Navy and Merchant Marine men undergoing grueling battles and inconceivable hardships . . . with our Army ready to do battle in all parts of the world, we civilians are asked to back them up—back them with the tools and vitals of war. There must be no "stops" on the road to Victory.

CAN WE DO LESS?

Drumheller Miners Need Coal Orders Now

Drumheller U.M.W.A. unions, with a membership of more than 2,000 miners, on February 25 wired Frank MacLennan, president of the Canadian coal controller, protesting the lack of coal orders in the Drumheller district.

The protest, one signature of Tom MacLean, president of the sub-district one miners, U.M.W.A., followed numerous lay-offs in coal mines at Drumheller. A similar protest was also being made by mine operators earlier in the week.

The miners' protest read: "Coal situation is serious. More than half the men idle due to shortage of orders. Mine workers feel the coal situation ridiculous. Have you got a constructive national fuel policy? If so, now is the time to apply same for our war effort and avoid absenteeism."

C.P.R. LOCOMOTIVES IN ART

The tempo of wartime activity is in a great railway shop and ocean liners sailing peacefully over calm seas. The tempo of the tempo of the subjects in contrast at an exhibit of oil paintings by Adrien Hebert, R.C.A., now on display in the Osborne street entrance show cases of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Windsor station at Montreal.

These subjects, rarely associated with the realm of art, have been given effective and interesting treatment by Mr. Hebert. One of the more vital scenes of the shop meets wartime—the overhauling of hard-working locomotives—has been forcefully portrayed in one of the paintings, one of which is an interesting scene showing illustration while their shops' flaming forges with their attending blacksmiths hard at work, inspired the theme of two other subjects.

Other features of the exhibit include colorful portrayals of Canadian Pacific liners shown peacefully at anchor in Montreal Harbour or sailing sufficiently to port to show an effective background of smaller ships or landscape.

Born in Paris, of Canadian parentage, Mr. Hebert began his career at an early age. A fellow of the Royal Society of Arts and Manufactures of Canada, he has exhibited in the Spring Exhibition in Montreal and at the Royal Canadian Academy, having been elected an academician in 1941. One of his sculptures was acquired by the Ottawa Museum, and another by the Musée de Nîmes, during a Paris exhibition of his works.

Mr. Hebert has other pictures in Le Musée de la Province de Québec, one belonging to the Art Association of Montreal, one in the National Gallery at Ottawa, and others in private collections.

Queen Honors
Airplane Crew

The three members of the crew of a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane were recently honored by Queen Wilhelmina at the Netherlands Legation in Ottawa. They were in charge of the plane which carried the Queen from Ottawa to an East Coast port last July on her way back to Britain after a visit to the Dominion. They are W. W. Fowler, of Sackville, N.B., who was captain of the aircraft, Arthur J.

W. W. FOWLER Tomkin of Medicine Hat, Alta., co-pilot, and Miss M. Clinch, of St. George, N.B., the stewardess. Queen Wilhelmina presented a gold pin with the Royal cipher superimposed on a crown to each of them.

Captain Fowler was born in 1927 and has been with T.C.A. since the inception of Canada's trans-continental air service. He is now assistant operations manager at Winnipeg. Tomkin, a native of Keweenaw, Ont., entered the T.C.A. service in 1941 at Winnipeg. Miss Clinch is a graduate of Saint John, N.B., General Hospital and joined the air line in September of 1942.

Benefit To Mankind

If Medical Science Finds Way To Eliminate Dentist's Drill

The Reader's Digest carries an article which will be of more than passing interest to all but the very young. Those who have already exchanged their molar and incisor for a set of false teeth, for it holds forth hope that the dentist's drill may be banished forever. The article relates that research carried on thus far indicates that dental decay, a deficiency disease caused by lack of fluorides in the diet, and that this deficiency can be remedied by the addition of small quantities of bone flour to the diet.

If the preliminary results are borne out by further research, what a great sigh of relief will go up all across the land. We cannot imagine a product in greater demand than the bone flour capsules, for the dentist's drill is an instrument which inspires fear in all who have reason to make its acquaintance. Boys with a toothache find their aching jaws miraculously freed of pain as they approach the dentist's office. Strong men become weak and trembling masses of perspiring flesh at the thought of that rotating bit of steel.

The rapidly advance of medical science. If the results of the scientists are realized, one of man's afflictions will be mastered. Diphtheria, smallpox, typhoid, pneumonia and many other diseases were man-killers not so long ago, but medical research has given us mastery over them. Dental decay, though not a deadly thing, is one of the most widespread of our physical ailments and its elimination would surely be a tremendous boon to mankind.

And yet, don't let's run any flags too soon. There's something about a dentist's drill that seems inevitable. These things are sent to us, and if we eliminate all the scourges what softies we will be! Scientists to the contrary, we have a bunch dentists who will be drilling to the soles of our feet for many years to come—Ottawa Journal.

NO ARGUMENT

A young and rather overzealous preacher who had been posted to an isolated settlement immediately proceeded to reform the natives. He objected strongly to smoking by the women. He stopped one day at the cabin of old Nancy and found her enjoying an after-dinner smoke on her corn cob pipe.

"Aunt Nancy," he reproved, "when your time comes to go, and you apply for admission at the gate of Heaven, do you expect Peter to let you in if he detects the odor of tobacco on your breath?"

"Young man," the old lady snapped back, "when I go to Heaven, I expect to leave my breath behind."

V.C. FOR INDIAN OFFICER

The third Victoria Cross presentation parade to be held in India since the outbreak of the war was witnessed on January 5th, in New Delhi, by more than 5,000 spectators, when the Viceroy presented the V.C. to the widow of Company Havildar Major Chheda Ram, 6th Rajputana Rifles, and pinned the Cross on the breast of Jemadar Gajé Ghale, 5th Royal Gurkha Rifles.

BRITAIN'S ARMY

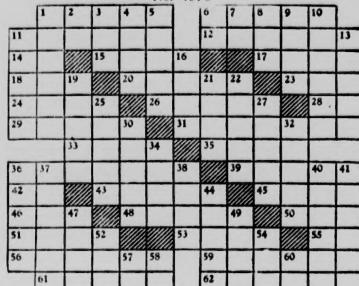

In the last war Britain put into the field an army of 5,000,000. In the present war, her manpower effort as regards the Army, Navy and Air Force is very much greater. In addition, the output of her war factories today dwarfs production of 1918. This achievement has been possible only by using the services of her women-folk on a scale which far surpasses that of any other belligerent—including Germany.

Great Britain has a population of 42,000,000 and is an island situated, at its nearest point, within 200 miles of the German army. These two simple and well-known facts carry implications which are worth reflection at the present juncture of war.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Cup Of Gold

—By—
GEORGE JAMES MARTIN
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

His throat burned. He'd had no water since yesterday when he hit the Bad Lands, just beating the sheriff over the Mexican line.

The soddenes on this side might be after him, too. He hadn't rolled the cash drawer in the bakery where he'd been counterman; must have been the manager who took the dough. That was why the shunk had him slapped into jail. What chance had an ex-con like himself to explain that the manager had used him for a fall guy?

He'd busted out of that peat-ridged cell. With no food, water, or horse, he was lucky to get this far. It might be smart to climb this next rise, keep low and have a look around.

This was luck—that house below, sprawling in all that green growing stuff must be water there . . . and the rancher been warned about him? He must chance it.

With a quivering heart, he approached a man with a dappled white mane, who wore a banded jacket above trousers which clung at the knee and flared at the ankle.

On closer view he saw an aquiline nose and piercing eyes set off by white skin bespeaking aristocratic Spanish ancestry.

The ranch owner smiled benignly. "Buenos días, amigo. You are American?" "Then, understandingly. "Water, sir?" He called to a peon: "Juan, bring water."

Guiping the coil straight, craftily watching the peon make a spirited report to his employer, he deduced that a town lay in the direction the peon was pointing.

"Ah—you feel better, Señor. May we offer you our hospitality? You will dine with us. Enter, Señor enter!"

It was a good dinner and he waited it hungrily. He realized that he must have stumbled upon one of the last feudal ranchos.

"You are safe here for as long as you need shelter," the old man said. "You are weary now. We will talk tomorrow. This night you will rest here. Juan will show you to your bedroom."

Upstairs he took the perfumed candle from Juan and shut the door on the peon: "Buenas noches, Señor."

He put his nearly empty wallet under the pillow. As he removed his shirt the hand brushed the mantelpiece. A ring, a polished silver, spilling. With amazement he saw gold coins rolling across the hardwood floor, clattering in all directions. One of them continued to spin under the bed. Grapine it, he prayed that no one heard. Maybe the old gent was setting him up for a robo, as on the manager's case. No, he decided. It was the way the coins were falling. This time he'd have the game as well! These Mexicans leaving gold lying around so carelessly. They didn't know what to do with it. Well, he knew what to do with it all right. It was a shame he had to rob such a nice guy, but this gold meant certain escape for him.

He must leave while everyone was yet asleep. He would head for the town—buy a horse and supplies—make the hideout before the old man discovered the theft.

He wrapped the gold in a scarf and wadded it into his shirt. That stuff was staying right next to him from now on he thought, as he rolled on his side to the satisfying clink of the metal . . .

Long before dawn he slipped furiously from his window and headed westward.

Moaning head down, down upon him.

Head scale that hauled up there—catch a glimpse of the town. But he saw only desert stretching to the horizon. That was what he got for following the peon's vague pointing.

He should have stopped to take water from the ranch.

Hearing hoof beats he turned to see Juan riding toward him. That cowboy must be a great tracker to overtake him so quickly. Well, he would keep the gold and get a horse to boot! He'd jump Juan as he rode by the rock. Better cache the gold just in case . . .

As he leaned over to swing the handle under the other side of the boulder, a sun-rioted projection crumpled under his weight and he pitched forward to land with a sharp snap of bone as the peon clattered him.

Now he'd never catch that Juan. A good thing he still had the gold. That fair ball up in the sky was cooking his brain, but he wouldn't let this filthy desert kick him.

His parched throat hurt when heしゃded. He'd better concentrate on following the trail of tracks leading away before him. The peon grew heavier with each step. This was his punishment for robbing the old man's business by robbing him.

"C'mon, pick up those feet. Keep 'em moving! Reminded him of that jail stretch, marching this way. Better get hold of him or I can't be much further. That road isn't the town where the last of us went around and over the last hill . . . Mossy . . . and had to be around when he hit the town or some Indian had him for the cold he'd sent us to keep."

He staggered over the hill and saw the back of a ranch house, a horse corral. Gold would buy a horse and outfit! Cheap from those Mexicans.

"He'd have to be an expert in the house. Hurry! Get water! Gold, sweet water on his face, his eyes, his mouth . . .

"Oh, rancher, judge, help me . . . he croaked.

Clawing at feet, lumbering legs, he hiked up into the sun of the midmorning heat outside.

"Water, Señor! Give me your gold! Take it. For God's sake forgive me!"

"You do not need forgiveness, Señor. It is the custom of our people to leave a coin of gold in the guest room for wayfarers to help themselves on their journey. The gold is yours, Señor, for the taking . . . but, Señor, you left your wallet here . . . Juan went after you to return it.

Under Lend-Lease

British And American Supply Officials Agree On Limiting Shipments

Virtual elimination of capital goods shipments to Britain under lend-lease is understood to have been agreed upon by British and American supply officials at Washington. The decision is one of numerous adjustments being made to keep lend-lease exports closely geared to military needs.

For several months the quantity of machinery going to Britain has been decreasing steadily, largely because British plants now have about all they need except for occasional replacements.

The approaching climax of the war in Europe has accentuated the policy of limiting all lend-lease shipments to Britain, particularly war materials. British supply officials apparently are determined not to leave themselves open to Congressional criticism that they have supplied other countries equipment having more use in the post-war period than during the war.

Three-Dimensional Pictures Used To Spot Gun Emplacements

Three-dimensional pictures in which "every hill and dale show up with perfect fidelity" had been used for more than a year to spot gun emplacements and installations, Cmdr. Robert S. Quigley, commanding officer of the gunners, told the Associated Press. The commander said the three-dimensional pictures were known as "stereographs" and "appear to have all the depth of the actual scene when viewed through light polarizing spectacles."

"I said good-bye to Constipation!"

"I've given up pills and harsh cathartics. I found my constipation was due to lack of fiber in my diet—and I discovered that when you eat bran, bran is a perfectly grand way to get at the cause, and, help correct it."

"This year I tried to stop 'disease' with harsh cathartics—with their lack of lasting relief. I tried taking a series of all bran cereal, and, though it seemed to do the trick, I found it was only a temporary relief. I eat several all bran muffins daily! Drink plenty of water.
